Course objectives

To provide training on intermodal logistics, short sea-shipping services and motorways of the sea for transport, logistics and international business professionals and students.

How?

- Promoting the concept of co-modality as a tool for improvement in transport management.
- Providing training and information to people who will manage and make decisions in logistics chain where the motorways of the sea can be used as a viable alternative for service, cost or time.
- Getting to know the benefits and calculate the savings to be gained from the use of the motorways of the sea, in costs and risk.
- Spreading the EU environmental policy on the carriage of goods in relation to the use and operation of infrastructure, equipment and transportation.
- Analyzing a system which can calculate the external costs of transport.
- Explaining the concept of e-Maritime to improve the efficiency and reliability of intermodal transport, information operations and electronic exchanges of documents involved in logistics and transport.
